The Way Forward: Emerging Strategies for Crime Victims of Color
Shaping the Future with Culturally Specific Innovations

June 23, 2020

2:00 PM Eastern Time
1:00 PM Central Time
Noon Mountain Time
11:00 AM Pacific Time
Moderator

Zoe Flowers
zflowerswocninc@gmail.com
Panelists

Purvi Shah
purviconsults@gmail.com
@PurviPoets

Maria del Rosario Franco - Rahman
maria@contodocorazon.org
Three people, a daughter and her parents, holding hands with the daughter in the middle. They are wearing South Asian clothing and the daughter is wearing bangles.
New Horizons 11x14 illustration by Molly Costello (2019)

Ten people spanning generations and communities and five beings as simple blue and light blue silhouettes fly through the night sky together. They are connected by stars like a constellation and are in the form of a v-shaped formation of birds. A Black femme with a disability with pink hair leads the “flock.” A bright yellow full moon is immediately below the flying group. Plants and hills are at the bottom of the image. A black bird with red feathers sits on a plant immediately below the moon and looks on at the group up ahead.